South Kingstown Police break up large off-campus party; make 4 arrests

On Saturday, October 8, 2022, at approximately 6:30 PM, members of the South Kingstown Police Department responded to 1602 Kingstown Road for a report of a large party with excessive noise.

Upon arrival, officers observed 350 to 400 people at the residence. An investigation by responding officers revealed the residence was rented by University of Rhode Island students and many in attendance were URI students. Officers observed numerous intoxicated individuals and many red solo cups strewn around the property.

The South Kingstown Police made the following arrests:

- Anthony Ghalbouni, age 20 of 23 Angel Road, Narragansett, RI – Possession of Beverage by Underage Person. (no photo available)
- Ryan P. Bromm, age 20 of 44 5th Street, Fanwood, NJ – Obstructing an Officer in Execution of Duty.
- James Giesen, age 19 of 21 Tree Hill Road, Waterbury, CT – Obstruction an Officer in Execution of Duty and Furnishing/ Procurement of Alcoholic Beverage under 21 by person 18 to 21.
- Sean Healy, age 20 of 37 Stoneybrook Road, Montville, NJ – Obstruction an Officer in Execution of Duty.

This investigation continues and further charges may be sought against other in attendance and the owner(s) of the property. Other discipline measures may be sought by the University against students involved.

“We are proud to be home to URI and consider it an important part of our community, but we will not turn a blind eye to these kinds of gatherings in South Kingstown,” said Matthew C. Moynihan, South Kingstown Chief of Police. “We want our message to be clear: we will enforce all town ordinances and state laws – include those related to underage drinking, social host violations and residential occupancy limits. We appreciate the continued collaboration of the University and the URI Police and hope that the students will make better choices understanding that their actions will have consequences.”
